INTRODUCTION.

N bringing this pamphlet before the public on Coronation Day, I wish to place on record the names of those now living in New Zealand who have during the last sixty years materially helped towards the building up or defence of this great Empire, and who are, therefore, naturally deserving of the interest and sympathy and, if need be, the support of their fellow-countrymen.

I desire to express my regret that owing to the isolated condition of many parts of this colony, I feel that my list, as far as the older veterans are concerned, is most incomplete. One of the best authorities in New Zealand has estimated that there are in the colony about seven thousand men who have served their country in either the army or navy, previous to the South African War, whereas my list will have little over two thousand one hundred names. Personally, I consider that there are quite two thousand more, many of whom being in independent positions did not understand that my object was to have a complete record of all who had served the Queen in the past, and who have now settled in New Zealand, quite irrespective of their circumstances; others, again, never heard that such a list was being compiled. I am indebted to Captain Daveney for his labors in returning me the Auckland lists, and for the immense trouble he took in the matter; to Lieutenant-Colonel Ellis, of New Plymouth, Ensign McKenna, V.C., of Wanganui, Captain Bower, of Napier, Mr. Townley, Mayor of Gisborne, Mr. Heywood, of the Treasury Department, Wellington, for the lists of Taranaki, Hawkes Bay, Poverty Bay, and the Wellington Province; to Colonel Robin, C.B., for Otago and Southland; Colonel Webb for Canterbury; Mr. Walter Clifford and others for Marlborough; the Hon. Colonel Pitt, M.L.C., for the Nelson district; and Mr. Dollman, of Westport, for the West Coast. All these gentlemen have given every help in their power.

The various Veterans' Associations have all lent their assistance, and as far as has been possible the services set forth have been proved.

No doubt there must be many unavoidable errors. Some of the handwriting has been of a character difficult to decipher; in many cases a name has been forwarded by two people with different spelling, and in some cases not the identical qualifications. All this has had to be sifted, inquired into, and in due course entered, which has caused considerable delay.

To publish such a list without including our young veterans would be wrong, and I have therefore included a complete list taken from the Government records of those who served in South Africa, concluding the book with the names of those who so nobly perished in their attempts to do their duty, and keep up the glorious traditions of their race.

The old soldier, or sailor, in the past, may not have always proved a good settler, those who have done well are perhaps little heard of, again of others you may hear too much; their very training in a measure does not incline them to a farmer's life, or to put by for their declining years, but without them and their kind, it is possible the colonist of to-day would not be occupying the same position he at present enjoys, and a foreign flag might be floating over New Zealand.

Little if anything has been done for these men, and in placing their records before the public, I hope to interest many in a combined effort to make the lot of the old veteran, whether of Imperial or Colonial service, a little happier and easier. The Maori War is now more than thirty-five years past, and the race we then fought against are now one with us, His Majesty's most loyal and active supporters, ready and anxious to fight for him as bravely as they fought in bygone years against his illustrious predecessor. These thirty-five years have made the active young man of those wars now past middle age, and there are many without pension eking out a miserable existence, or in some of the charitable institutions of our land.

These men who have fought for the Empire and for the Colony in the heyday of their youth, certainly if their present records are good, deserve better of their country than to have to end their days in poverty with the flotsam and jetsam of society.

If this work and the circular with which it concludes adds in the least to the establishment of a Veterans' Home, where old warriors can in comfort, before a good fire, and with a full pipe, fight their battles over again, I shall feel that the time devoted to this object has not been expended in vain, and that a very real want has been satisfactorily met.

RANFURLY

(Governor).

In 1845 there was a war with the Maoris, over 2000 of the natives of Murihiku and the Bay of Plenty, under the command of the Company's despatch, Sir Charles Napier, were sent to New Zealand with this result. The Maoris were beaten at Te Ranga and Te Awamutu, for the former battle was bold and valiant, while the latter, due to the skill of General Pakenham, for the former battle was bold and valiant, while the latter, due to the skill of General Pakenham, was a brilliant victory.

In December, 1845, there was the first Sikh war, known as the Second Anglo-Sikh war, in which the Sikhs were defeated and the British army took the fort of Jellalabad, and General Gough put an end to their resistance. This was the last English war in New Zealand, over the results of these battles, see page 10.

In 1847 the first Maori war, known as Hoki's war, resulting in the loss of New Zealand, was known as Hoki's war. On the soldiers and sailors who have returned their native land, having rendered service for their country, in this last struggle in New Zealand. There can be no question that the men from New Zealand were the greatest soldiers in this early date.

In 1848 the second Sikh war, known as the two and a half year war, between the Chilianwallah and Government, placed by Lord Clarendon. The battle of Chilianwallah resulted in the formation being added to the Indian Army, and the six regiments of this remarkable division.

In 1850 between the second Sikh war, for which not held much account, three brigadier-generals fought out for British service, Mr. Headlam, Mr. Gough, Mr. Perta, and seven for the New Zealand frontier, all being compensated with grants, the amount being a large increase in the importance of our position there.

HONOUR'S ROLL.

BRIEF account of some of the Medals worn by Veterans who have settled in New Zealand will not be out of place.

The earliest medal I have been able to discover (a Naval one) is for Syria. This was issued for a naval engagement at Acre under Admiral Sir Charles Napier in the year 1840, when England was defending the Turkish Empire against Mehemet Ali, who, as the Sultan's Viceroy in Egypt, considered himself sufficiently strong to throw off his allegiance, and tried to establish a separate Sovereignty, this Britain and other Powers opposed, and the matter was compromised. The Egyptians lost at Acre 2000 killed and 2000 were taken prisoners.

In 1841 our Navy stormed several forts in the Canton River, and seized the now important British possession "Hongkong," Canton surrendering to a combined naval and military force. This Chinese war is certainly represented by four veterans in the Colony, it ended in the possession of Hongkong and the opening of the five chief ports of China (known as Treaty Ports) to British trade.

In 1843 there was a war with Scinde, General Sir Charles Napier gained a victory over 3000 of the enemy at Meanee, and the whole of Scinde was added to the East India Company's dominions, Sir Charles Napier being made Governor. There is one man living in New Zealand with this medal. This same year were fought the battles of Maharajpoor and Punniar, for the former battle two hold medals, while one holds one for the latter.

In December, 1845, there was the first Sikh war, known as the Sutlej campaign. This war was occasioned by an organised attack by the Sikhs on the British at Ferozepore, and the battles of Ferozehah, Aliwal, and Sobraon put an end to their incursions. Five aged men in New Zealand carry the medals for these battles to-day.

In 1845 the flagstaff was cut down at Russell, resulting in the first New Zealand war known as Heke's war. On the roll there are twenty who have returned their names as having received medals for their participation in this first struggle in New Zealand. There can be no question that many more New Zealand medallists gained their decorations at this early date.

In 1848 the second Sikh war broke out, the two chief engagements being Chilianwallah and Goodjerat, gained by Lord Gough. The latter was a complete victory, and resulted in the Punjab being added to the Indian Empire. New Zealand has still six representatives of this remarkable campaign.

In 1851 there was the second Burmese war, for which ten hold medals, whereas three hold medals for Pegu, one for Umbeylea, two for Bhootan, three for Jowaki, one for Perak, and seven for the North West Frontier, all fights connected with India; the gross result being a large increase in the importance of our position there.

Eleven medals in New Zealand now represent the Kaffir war of 1853, whereby Kaffraria became a British colony.

For several years a dispute about the Holy Places at Jerusalem had been causing friction between Russia and Turkey, eventuating in a war in which England, France and Sardinia became involved in 1854. The first scene of the famous Crimean war, was the bombardment of Odessa by the allied fleets on April 21st, and the Baltic Expedition. For this latter about forty men now hold the medal in New Zealand. The following September the Allies landed a military force of some fifty-one thousand men at Eupatoria, and on the 20th of that month was fought the ever memorable battle of the Alma, never to be forgotten by those to whom the fame of Britain is dear, one of those brilliant gleams which, coming from the past, must light up her history for ever. To quicken our pulses we have but to think of that fair September day forty-eight years ago, to see that gallant army advancing up those bullet swept heights, wave after wave mown down like grass before the Russian guns, and yet ever pressing onward! Their fame is undying, and we surely cannot fail to take the deepest interest in those still remaining who took part in so glorious a day, we surely cannot allow them to sink into oblivion.

Then follows the siege of Sebastopol with its unspeakable miseries and hardships borne by our soldiers with such fortitude; hardships far greater than any in modern war with comparatively no comforts for the sick and dying. Balaclava next, with its two great charges, the charge of the Heavy Brigade, represented here by Lieutenant-Colonel Noake, Hokianga, who was severely wounded, and that of the Light Brigade, made ever famous by Tennyson in his "Charge of the Six Hundred"; of that number only two hundred escaped the carnage. Inkerman, the "Soldiers' Battle," followed on the 5th November, "probably the most heroic hand-to-hand fight of any age"; there can never be another like it, for the conditions of modern warfare are different, modern weapons preclude close quarters; but we can still be proud of the men who fought there, and we can still honor those who died by caring for those who are with us still. Two hundred and seventy Crimean veterans are in this Colony to-day, many with four clasps; Sardinia recognised two by presenting them with her special medal, and France conferred hers upon three. Sebastopol fell September 8th, 1855, and the Crimean war was hardly over when troubles came in the East. A small war with Persia is represented here by eight men, and the second Chinese war, in which Canton was taken, has one representative—1858.

In India meantime disaffection was spreading, and in May, 1857, the northern provinces broke into flame. The terrible Mutiny proved what the British race is capable of. For a moment it seemed as if all must be lost, but thanks to Havelock, Lawrence, Outram, Nicholson, and their brave soldiers, order was restored and the lives of our unfortunate countrymen and countrywomen fully avenged. England never stood higher than when she had crushed the Indian Mutiny. No less than one hundred and eighty medals are held in New Zealand, and I cannot express my deep regret that one Mutiny veteran who always took the warmest interest in the soldiers of the Empire has passed away since I started to compile this list. I refer to the Very Rev. Dr. Cowie, D.D., Primate of New Zealand. In him the soldier always found a true friend, and in him the Colony loses one of its finest characters.

From the Mutiny we pass again to China, 1859-60. The Taku Forts and Surrender of Pekin were achievements in this third Chinese War, and 39 in this Colony took part in it.

From China we come to our own fair Colony, and we find one thousand three hundred and twenty New Zealand medallists recorded in this roll—not counting those who fought in Heke's War.

Before absolute peace was existing in New Zealand Abyssinia had its little war, occasioned by the detention of English prisoners in that country. Nine men now amongst us followed the gallant Napier to Magdala, 1868.

In 1870 took place the Fenian Raid in Canada, for which two hold the medal.

Eighteen-seventy-three brought the Ashantee Expedition and Capture of Coomassie. This war against climate, as well as savage tribes, was participated in by twelve New Zealand residents.

The Zulu War, with its massacre of our troops at Isaudhlana, and heroic defence of Rorke's Drift by a mere handful of determined men (an incident indeed characteristic of the British soldier at his best), comes next, 1878-9, and nineteen possess this medal, some of whom took their share in these most famous fights. There are few incidents in British history finer than the defence of Rorke's Drift, or more calculated to stimulate our young soldiers to like action. Alas, that we should have to follow such a soul-stirring tale with our Transvaal Campaign of 1880, ever to remain as a disgrace to the British statesmen of the day, who deserted our brave garrisons and gave them over into the hands of the enemy. Happily at last we can say Majuba Hill is avenged, and on its very anniversary, and our position as a nation is stronger than ever. This campaign ending in, as history says, "Negotiations and retrocession of the Transvaal to the Boers in 1881," must ever excite a nauseous feeling to every lover of the prestige and honour of his country, and it is only now that we can say that all possible has been done to blot this page out of our history. But to arrive at this end we have had to fight this last South African War, and many of our best and bravest have nobly sacrificed their lives there. We cannot think of our losses without the bitterest reflections upon the politicians of those days.

We now change the scene to the Afghan War of 1878. Sir Lewis Cavagnari, British Resident, his staff and guard, were massacred in Kabul, September, 1879, and this sad event was quickly followed by Sir Frederick Roberts' march from Kabul to Candahar, the most brilliant exploit of the war; the battles of Maiwand and Argandab are other remarkable actions at that period. There are on my roll thirteen who served in this campaign.

Then follows Egypt, the revolt of Arabi, the bombardment by our ships of Alexandria in 1882, and the battle of Tel-el-Kebir, ending in Arabi's surrender. In 1883 the Mahdi appeared on the scene, and Chinese Gordon was in 1884 despatched alone, and without armed support to quash a rebellion of great proportions simply by the strength of his marvellous personality and pluck. It is another miserable story of desertion and delay, ever casting discredit upon the British Ministers of the day, who sent him to do their bidding, and left him to meet his death alone. But the Anglo-Saxon is not always the dupe of his Government; he, happily, does not forget, and before the century closed Gordon was amply avenged. How many representatives this Egyptian Campaign may have in New Zealand it is hard to say. My roll gives me only twenty-four names, but perhaps these younger soldiers of the Empire do not by any manner of means consider themselves "Veterans," and possibly in many cases they have not sent in their names.

1885 saw the rebellion of Indian half-breeds in North-West Territory, Canada; but this was but a short business. Still there are two carrying this medal among us. The same year war was declared with Burmah, and we have representatives here who went through this not over pugnacious campaign, resulting in the annexation of Burmah to India. Then follows the Indian Frontier Campaign, and, greatest of all, as far as New Zealand is concerned, the South African War, when England's Empire beyond the seas awoke to the fact that their interests were common; that her honour was the honour of her colonies, too; that her prestige was theirs; awoke to the fact that as part of the Empire they had their duties; awoke to the full knowledge that in their veins ran the same life blood, and that their love of Queen and Country was no whit less ardent than that which animated their brethren at Home. The call to arms came; it was but two hundred at first, but the response—the outburst of enthusiasm—showed that the New Zealanders had martial blood within them, and that they were ready to take their responsibilities and do their share—come weal or woe—for the Empire they proudly acknowledged. About this war it is useless for me to write; suffice it to say the reverses of the past can now be calmly spoken of. The war is over, peace again blesses our country, and some six thousand six hundred of our New Zealanders will carry on their breasts the medal for having served their country well in the hour of danger. I am proud to have held the position of Governor of this Colony during such a crisis. I always felt the Colonial would ring true, and I am proud to think my name should be associated, even for a few years, with so chivalrous a country.

Even now I have not come to the end of those who have seen good service. There is at least one representative of the Arctic Expedition, with its medal and white ribbon; one or two with the Legion of Honour (France); while one has the rosette, the badge of honour of Garibaldi, etc., and several have the Royal Humane Society's medal, some emanating from Home, others from Australia, and probably some from the Royal Humane Society of New Zealand. Many have long service and good conduct medals; four have meritorious service; seven, in any case, have distinguished service in the field; nine are entered as New Zealand Cross; and three are the proud possessors of the Victoria Cross, the greatest ambition of any British soldier. Their names are:—

GEORGE DARE DOWELL,
Lieutenant R.M.A.

An explosion having occurred in one of the rocket boats of the "Arrogant" during the attack on some forts near Viborg, Lieutenant Dowell (who was on board the "Ruby" gunboat while his own boat was receiving a supply of rockets) was the first to jump into the quarter-boat of the "Ruby," and with three volunteers, himself pulling the stroke oar, proceeded instantly, under a heavy fire of grape and musketry, to the assistance of the cutter's crew. The Russians endeavoured to prevent his object of saving the men and boat, but Lieutenant Dowell succeeded in taking up three of the boat's crew and placing them on board the "Ruby," and on his returning to the spot was mainly instrumental in keeping afloat and bringing off the sinking cutter.

Lieutenant-General Cameron, C.B., Commanding Her Majesty's Forces in that colony, reports that in Colour-Sergeant McKenna the detachment found a commander whose coolness, intrepidity, and judgment justified the confidence placed in him by the soldiers brought so suddenly under his command.

Fourth New Zealand Contingent	F farrier-Major W. J. Hardham.	On the 28th January, 1901, near Naauwpoort, this non-commissioned officer was with a section which was extended and hotly engaged with a party of about twenty Boers. Just before the force commenced to retire Trooper McCrae was wounded, and his horse killed. Farrier-Major Hardham at once went, under a heavy fire, to his assistance, dismounted, and placed him on his own horse, and ran alongside until he had guided him to a place of safety.

The list that follows speaks for itself, and since it has gone to press I have received the names of many others, whom I regret that it is now impossible for me to record in this pamphlet.

New Zealand may well be proud of the deeds of her veterans. May it be to her honour and credit that everything is done that can be done by private individuals to make their last years happy, that those who in life's fight have not come out on top may find that the patriotism of the people is sufficiently strong to assist the deserving, and by opening a Veterans' Home to rear up a permanent memorial amongst us to the gallant men of our Colony who fell in South Africa for the honour of the Empire and the good of their fellow countrymen.

IN MEMORIAM.

NEW ZEALAND NATIONAL MEMORIAL.

HOME FOR VETERANS.

To Commemorate the part played by this Colony in the War in South Africa, and to the memory of those New Zealanders who have fallen there.

THE suggestion for the erection of a "Veterans' Home" as a suitable memorial to those fallen in South Africa, must commend itself to all thoughtful persons who have given their careful attention to the matter, and who realise, apart from any sentimental reasons, the great need for such a Home in New Zealand.

It seems a strange thing, in a country so well provided with public institutions, that the one class should be forgotten who are so fully deserving of recognition, and doubtless the calling attention to their state, is all that is required to evoke ready sympathy throughout the Colony, which owes so much of its present prosperity to those who, in the past, have so freely devoted the best years of their existence, and risked their lives in the Empire's service.

The very training of these men as soldiers or sailors unfits them more or less for civilian occupations, and often in their old age they find themselves in circumstances far from independent, and it is sad to think in consequence many should be forced to find a refuge with the waifs and strays of society—through no fault of their own.

In England the very large numbers of old soldiers and sailors preclude any satisfactory organisation for their care, and the sad cases of suffering and destitution that are yearly brought to light are object lessons to those who have it in their power to provide against a similar fate for defenders of their native land. Such an institution would seem to particularly commend itself at the present time to the people of New Zealand. One and all are anxious to perpetuate in a fitting manner the memories of those of their brave countrymen who have fallen during the late war. All, no doubt, wish such a memorial to be a lasting one, and when, as frequently happens in this and other countries, monuments and graves are met with on which inscriptions have, through time or want of care, become illegible, the thought cannot but occur that some better provision might, nay, should be made to perpetuate the remembrance of those who have gallantly died in the discharge of their duty. A Veterans' Home would seem to well supply such a memorial; it would also stand as a record to those qualities New Zealanders have so conspicuously displayed in South Africa, and of which their country is so justly proud; further, in years to come, a Home cannot but materially benefit those on whom the strain of active service has left its mark, and who may find themselves in need.

Some people point out that these old men are rapidly passing away, but the roll, which at present does not include our South African Contingents, shows that the later wars of Ashantee, Egypt, Soudan, and Afghan are all represented in the Colony, whilst there are hundreds who fought in the Colonial Forces in New Zealand and South Africa. In a Colony which has shown such martial ardour in the past three years, it needs no prophetic voice to state that there is never any likelihood of a home for 40 being beyond the demand, whereas certainly at the present time it will fall far short of it.

A short review of the financial position of such an institution may not be out of place here. The cost of a furnished Home to accommodate forty veterans, provision being made for four married couples, would be, exclusive of the cost of the land, £5,000. The price of the land may be estimated at £1,000. Putting it at the lowest estimate, £350, or the interest on £9,000 will be required for maintenance. Although this will be insufficient to meet all contingencies, yet it is hoped by entertainments, &c., sufficient will be forthcoming to meet all that is required. From this it will be seen that £15,000 in all is necessary to carry out the scheme in its entirety. The Home would be made self-supportive, so to speak, as far as possible. Such extra services as are necessary would be provided for by employing Veterans, where suitable candidates were forthcoming. The most deserving and needy cases, would at all times receive first consideration as regards admission to the Home, the selection being without canvas, and under the control of the Committee.

Various modes of perpetuating the memory of individual fallen could be arranged, and details thought out. For instance, a cottage or a wing dedicated to a district, or even a bed endowed in the name of a person or town could be arranged to commemorate an individual or a place.

To render the undertaking a success, early action would appear advisable, and it would seem desirable that such as may wish to give the movement their support may be afforded an early opportunity of doing so. It is therefore proposed that the first subscription lists be opened at once; and remain open till July 31st, and it is hoped that this appeal will meet not only with the cordial approval, but also with the substantial support of the people of New Zealand.

It is proposed, when an estimate can be fairly made as to the support the Home will meet with, to at once form the working committee, and proceed without delay to erect a building, however modest, as a commencement.

The Governor's list of Veterans now contains upwards of 2,000 names, holding more than 2,260 medals. Amongst these one holds the medal for Syria (Acre), 1840; four, China War, 1842; one, Scinde, 1843; twelve, the Kaffir War, 1853; five, Sobraon, 1845; six, Punjaub, 1846; nineteen, New Zealand, 1846; and there are representatives living of every campaign since, including 240 Crimea and 150 Mutiny. The Mutiny, the last of these here mentioned, was 44 years ago, showing that all these must be suffering from anno domini. It is unquestionable that many of these Veterans have not seen service in this Colony, and people may remark, "what claim have they on us?" To this there can be but the one reply: that they fought the Empire's Battles, to the honour and prestige of Great Britain's most distant Colony.

The question of the establishment of this Home was initiated by the Earl of Ranfurly, who has received the fullest approval of H.R.H. Princess Christian, the President of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Help Society, and of others at Home, and there can be no doubt that a large mead of support will be sent from thence towards its establishment.

Through the kindness of a friend, the Governor has already received plans for the proposed Home, and Major-General Babington, who is acting as Honorary Treasurer, has opened an account at the Bank of New Zealand.

Subscriptions may be sent to Major-General Babington, the Honorary Secretary Veterans' Home, Government House, or to any of the various Committees now being formed throughout the Colony.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR, CHAIRMAN,
HON. SIR JOSEPH WARD, K.C.M.G.,
CAPTAIN SIR WILLIAM RUSSELL, Kt.,
MAJOR-GENERAL BABINGTON,

Preliminary Committee.

For such a Memorial to be a New Zealand National Memorial it is most desirable that the number of subscribers should be representative of the population, and that not alone the wealthy, but those able to contribute small amounts should add their names to the list. The intention is—on or before the 1st September, 1902, to see what support is forthcoming, and to start in a small way if necessary, so that some of the most deserving and needy cases can be dealt with, and, if possible, a home partially opened before this year closes.

All subscriptions will be acknowledged by the Treasurer, Major-General Babington, the Hon. Secretary Veteran's Home, Government House, Wellington, or they may be sent to the local committees which have been established throughout the Colony.

The building of a Home is already assured, and it is most desirable that the response to the appeal should be such as to make it worthy of New Zealand's share in the past struggle, and a fitting Memorial to those who have given their lives for the Empire.

This rests with the people of the Colony.
